

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to express my deep gratitude to my three knowledgeable and efficient PhD supervisors: Dr Paul Roberts, Professor Mary Thornton and Dr Kit Thomas, for their thorough reviews of this study, critical comments, constructive suggestions and careful corrections which have contributed to the improvement not only of this study but also of my English. I particularly appreciate Dr Paul Roberts for his input, encouragement and faith in me which has made a PhD a possibility for me and the journey of my research enjoyable. My special thanks to Professor Mary Thornton for her ‘ruthless’ comments and her thorough, insightful and professional remarks, which have contributed so much to the progress of this study. I am also grateful for Dr Kit Thomas’ detailed feedback, thoughtful comments and positive compliments which have inspired me with confidence and enthusiasm for this study.

I am deeply indebted to all the students who participated in my research: those pre-Masters students in University of Hertfordshire took part in the pilot study; those studying in the University of Hertfordshire franchised Finance and Accounting programme in Fuzhou University, as well as those who studied in the English major programme. I thank them for their willing participation and active co-operation in the producing valuable data for this research. Without their help, this research would not have been possible. My huge thanks also go to all the staff members involved in the two programmes; without their help and coordination, this research could not have been completed so smoothly.

I would also like to thank the members of my family for their support, encouragement, and understanding throughout the journey of my research. I am sincerely grateful to all my colleagues and friends for their understanding, motivation and help in discussing with me various aspects of the research. In all, I am deeply indebted to them all for their kind help, support, and encouragement in various ways.
